The Grain Trade.

The unsettled weather last week checked somewhat the movements of produce. Receipts of wheat, including flour were 280,990 bushels (246,175 bus. wheat, 6,963 bbls flour,) against 272,934 bus. for the corresponding week in 1858. Shipments amounted to 253,780 bushels, against 183,548 bushels for the same week last year. Receipts of oats, corn, barley and rye, last week, in the aggregate, were only 5,282 bushels. The receipts of these articles for the corresponding week last year amounted to 16,520 bushels.

Since the first of January we have received by Rail Road, 2,397,324 bushels of wheat, and shipped 2,543,845 bushels, including flour. During the same time last year, we received 3,395,626 bushels, and shipped 4,-123,355. These figures are suggestive. Our exports exceed our railroad receipts since Jan. 1st, by 246,521 bushels. On the first of January we had in store 354,747 bushels wheat, including flour—so that the amount of wheat received by teams this year has been about equal to the amount consumed by our population.

Another Interesting Young Man Collapsed

Sixty Thousand Dollars Embezzled---Magnificent Disclosures---A Glimpse Into Fast Life at the Metropolis.

Mr. WILLIAM J. LANE, Jr., transfer and foreign-note clerk of the Fulton Bank, New York city, has suddenly been transplanted from a gorgeous establishment in West Nineteenth Street to the Police Court, on a charge of embezzlement, preferred by Mr. KENNEDAN, the President of the Bank. This young man (the accused,) is 28 years of age, and has held his clerkship in the Bank for the past four years, at an annual salary of $800. He is married, but childless. The deficit, the Bank officers assert, amounts to $60,442.13. LANE's mode of operation is said to have been very ingenious. Pretending to be the agent of A. B. DEAN & Co., of New Jersey, he would collect in his father's name, bills receivable in Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, which are supposed to have been all fictitious. Entering these to the credit of his father upon the books of the Bank, when the bills were supposed to be realized, he would receive his father's check on the Fulton Bank for the proceeds. That no discrepancy in the accounts with corresponding Banks should appear, LANE would leave uncharged, for a few days, actual bills receivable, sufficient to cover the deficiency which would otherwise be shown. It is supposed, also, that when the general book-keeper of the institution made out his account-current to be sent to each of the Bank's correspondents, Lane would make a fictitious one and forward it in its place—his position in the Bank affording him facilities for so doing.

The fraud was detected by Mr. LANE, Sen., the father of the prisoner and cashier of the bank. Mr. LANE, Sen., has been connected with the institution almost from its organization, is well known and much respected, and upon him falls with full force the effect of the delinquent's conduct. It is stated that about two months ago, young LANE was met on Bloomingdale road driving a very fast team, by one of the Bank directors, who took occasion to remark that the young man was spending more money than his salary would warrant. His friends, however, explained it satisfactorily. Immediately upon suspicion being aroused, the matter was placed in the hands of a detective to "work up," and the consequence was a revelation of the whole transaction.

After his arrest on Tuesday last, he accompanied the officers to a house which he had hired at No. 230 West Nineteenth street, at an annual rent of $1,000. Here they were introduced to a young woman about 19 years of age, with whom the prisoner stated he had been living on terms of most familiar intimacy. This establishment, which was magnificently furnished, had cost him a vast sum, and his yearly expenditure for its support had amounted to $2,000. The officers recovered from the young lady jewels valued at six thousand dollars, one diamond cross which had cost $1,000; gold bracelets, worth $175; five diamond rings, diamond ear-rings, and a gold watch set with diamonds. At his private stables on Lexington Avenue, were four valuable horses, worth $6,000, and a splendid variety of equippage, double and single carriages, cutters, and expensive harness.

This young gentleman had dabbled considerably in Lottery tickets. He told the officers that he had invested in one day, $1,-000, and upon other occasions, for two weeks every day he had bought tickets to the amount of $250. He drew a prize of $3,000, and that was all the return the speculation had made him.

He is now confined in the "Tombs," awaiting an examination on the charge,—a painful example of the consequences of that maddening desire for display which pervades so many of the would-be fast young men of Gotham.

A DISASTROUS EARTHQUAKE.—On the 22d ultimo, at half-past 1 P. M., a violent earthquake desolated the town of Norcia, a place of 9,224 souls, situated in the province of Umbria, about a hundred miles from Rome, in a lofty plain, surrounded by the Appennines, a locality which appears peculiarly subject to similar catastrophies, the town of Foligno, in the same district, being periodically visited by earthquakes, and Norcia itself having been more than once entirely destroyed, especially in the years 1705 and 1730. The chief part of the population fled into the open country on feeling the awful shock, but many were killed or injured by the falling buildings. Sixty-nine corpses have been already dug out of the ruins, and many more are supposed to be concealed under them. The Pope is said to be much afflicted at this disastrous news, and has forwarded $3,500 as a first succor to the more needy survivors. The shock was felt in Rome, although very slightly, on the same day and hour.

Politics in New York.

The Albany Evening Journal, of Thursday last, referring to the doings of the Know-Nothing Convention, says:

The Republicans of the State needed something to stimulate them. This stimulant has been furnished by the American Convention. The election of the entire Republican Ticket, in spite of this mongrel combination, is something worth working for. AND WITH WORK, IT CAN BE DONE.

So fully persuaded are we of this, that we cannot regret the action of the Convention. The incentive given by that action will we have not a doubt, draw out more Republican votes than this "half and half" ticket will receive. The necessity for a full vote will be felt; and and the needed full vote will be given.

The work of organization was progressing very well before. It will now go forward "with a rush." We predict a fuller Republican vote and a grander Republican triumph, than was ever before achieved in the State.

The Journal adds this significant fact, which we commend to the attention of the News and its Know-Nothing associates:

As for the leaders who have engineered and officered the party to death, they will do as they have done heretofore. They will try to persuade their followers to vote half the Democratic ticket, and then will vote the whole of it themselves.

THE ROSTRUM.—The New York Tribune publishes a list of one hundred and ninety-four gentlemen and eight ladies, who are willing, for the proper consideration, to appear before lyceums and associations during the approaching lecture season. The list embraces all the well known names in the lecture field, and very many quite new and altogether unknown, except, as we suppose, in their own neighborhoods. The Tribune closes an editorial reference to the best, as follows:

As for the lecturers, they are, as a general thing, well paid, and the cleverest and most popular must earn from $3,000 to $8,500 in a season. Their intellectual outlay is not large, for a single new lecture a year, with occasional judicious use of the old ones, will carry a man along. But their physical toils and sufferings are tremendous. Constant riding in heated and unventilated cars; sleeping on feather beds in hot rooms and straw beds in cold ones; the water in the ewer frozen solid in the morning, and no means of getting any more, tough beef-steaks, sodden potatoes, leathery slapjacks, and sloppy coffee for dinner; talking tea after the lecture with the magnate of the village, who has invited a party of intellectual spinsters to discuss philosophy and literature, who will not take fatigue as an excuse—no wonder at the end of a couple of months of such discipline the hard-worked, ill-slept periathetic philosopher, wit, savan and orator is usually reduced in flesh and heightened in temper, notwithstanding the increased contents of his purse. However, the splendor of the reward brings new competitors into the arena; of these, as in all other spheres of labor, most are probably destined to disappointment—while some of them, let us hope, are fitted to succeed those few shining leaders of the business, whose names are so well known that it is unnecessary to repeat them here.

Harrison C. Hobart in 1855.

The Madison Patriot of 1855 contains some facts respecting Mr. H C. Hobart, or Hunt, (he is known by both names,) the present Democratic candidate for Governor, which are of interest at this time.

It will be remembered that in the Democratic State Convention, of 1855, there were a number of contested seats. If one set were admitted it gave the Convention to Barstow; if the other, to his opponents. How it was managed—what supple tool was found to carry out the Barstow programme the following extracts from the Patriot of Sept. 1st, 1855, and of a following day will show:

We gave yesterday the preliminary proceedings of this body, (the Democratic State Convention). They show a degree of corruption and fraud, and concerted iniquity, such as was never before seen in any State of the Union. The first move in the game was made by Beriah Brown, who nominated Harrison C. Hobart, as President pro tem., before calling the Convention to order.

The Chair (Harrison C. Hobart) overruled every call for ayes and noes, and every motion to get a vote of real members, taking the vote viva voce, which allowed a large lobby to take part in it. That all committees appointed (by H. C. Hobart) upon contested seats, were made up mainly of inveterate Barstow men, whose reports rejected, with an exception or two, every anti-Barstow delegate however clear his right to a seat. The only question in the case seems to have been, are you a Barstow man? If so your right to a seat is indisputable. * * *

The convention was a farce and an insult to every pretence of justice or fairness—and a libel on the Democracy of the State. It represented at least 260,000 acres of School Land and $200,000 of School money.

In regard to the delegates who simply "claimed the right" to set in the Convention, while H. C. Hobart, that embodiment of Parliamentary usage, decided entitled them to vote on the reception of the regularly appointed delegates, we are well aware that the only question was, would they vote for Barstow, and not did they represent a constituency. If the regular or legal delegates alone should be suffered to vote on the reception of these Barstow delegates—for they own no other name—the Democracy would have controlled the Convention, and His Excellency would have been nowhere, so the Chair, (Harrison C. Hobart), the mantle of inspiration falling upon him, decided contrary to all rules and precedents, and allowed everybody to vote, even those in the lobby if they claimed seats, and many of them availed themselves of the privilege.—Madison Journal.

MADISON, Sept. 19, 1859.

Mr. Seward's "Irrepressible Conflict."

From the N. Y. Evening Post.

The declaration laid down by Mr. Seward, in his Rochester speech, that there is such an "irrepressible conflict" between the institutions of Slavery and Free Labor that one or the other must ultimately prevail throughout the Union, has been denounced by Douglas and others as a bloody and treasonable heresy. Mr. Everett, however, in his last oration on Webster, intimates that Mr. Seward is brandishing borrowed thunder, and that the doctrine in question had a much less heroical origin. Mr. Everett says:

"He (Mr. Webster) not only confidently anticipated what the lapse of seven years since his decease has witnessed and is witnessing, that the newly acquired and newly organized territories of the Union would grow up into Free States; but in common with all or nearly all the statesmen of the last generation, he believed that free labor would ultimately prevail throughout the country. He thought he saw that, in the operation of the same causes, which have produced this result in Middle and Eastern States, it was visibly taking place in the States north of the cotton-growing region, and he inclined to the opinion that there, too, under the influence of physical and economical causes, free labor would eventually be found the most productive, and would therefore be ultimately established."

CONVICTED.—JOSEPH W. THORNTON whose trial for the murder of JOSEPH CHARLESS, at St. Louis, we mentioned in Saturday's paper, has been convicted of murder in the first degree, and will doubtless be sentenced to death.

FIFTH WARD.—We noticed in a stroll through the Fifth Ward, many evidences of improvement. New buildings are going up in all directions, some of the new blocks being of brick and very substantial. The streets in many places are being raised and planked, and in the more frequented of them, defective places are being repaired, the sidewalks are also laid. Altogether, on every hand, the good folks seem to be preparing for the Winter's trade. No one who has not been in that portion of our city for a year or two, would imagine the improvements which have taken place; where the swamp used to furnish fishing and hunting ground for our sporting citizens in Summer, and skating fields for the boys in Winter, dwellings, stores, lumber and ship yards now stand.

The process by which lots are made, can be seen opposite the "big warehouse," where the dredge, scooping up great loads from the bottom of the river throws them over the piling on the dock, where "five Irishmen" with wheelbarrow and spade lead and scatter the enormous heaps, and produce building lots in no time.

Down in this region a few years will find most of our lumber dealers. MENZIES & Co. have led the way. Their yard on the corner of Lake and Hanover streets, would have been considered a short time since out of the city, and even last year it was difficult to approach; but now it is accessible from every point: good planked streets leading to it, and farmers from the south, especially, will find it very handy. They have a good stock of Green Bay lumber, well assorted and of every description, and we can assure our readers they will find not only a good stock, but fair prices, and they can rely upon getting ten hundred feet for a thousand.

A "FAST FREIGHT LINE" INDEED!—The steamship Detroit, of the Detroit and Milwaukee R. R. line, came into port, Saturday afternoon, bringing over a good load of passengers and some 40 tons of freight. The freight, which consisted mainly of merchandize for this State, Iowa and Minnesota, left Detroit on Friday evening; arrived at Grand Haven at half-past 4 Saturday morning; was immediately put on board the Detroit, which reached here at 10 minutes past 12, Saturday P. M., and was delivered at the stores of our merchants, and at the Depots of the Mississippi and La Crosse Rail Roads, the same afternoon. This is hurrying freight along in earnest.

RETURN OF THE LIGHT GUARD.—The Milwaukee Light Guard returned from their encampment, at the Walworth County Fair, at Elkhorn, on Saturday afternoon. They were quite enthusiastic in their accounts of the proceedings there, and of the cordial welcome and abundant hospitality which they met with. The Light Guard took the prize of $50 for the best Military Company, and our American Cornet Band also secured the first prize of $50 for the best Military Band.

FIRE SATURDAY MORNING.—Between one and two o'clock Saturday morning, a fire was discovered in the rear of the frame building, No. 104 East Water street, occupied by ENOS GAY, as a boot and shoe store. The building was about destroyed, and the brick building adjoining, occupied by Mr. GUNTHER, was somewhat damaged. The building which burned belonged to Alderman MILDEBRAN, and it was not of very great value—perhaps worth $800 or $400. Mr. GAY's loss is from $250 to $500—no insurance.

TO THE LADIES.—We hope to see at the State Fair a creditable Floral display. The hall appropriated to this department is large, and an ordinary amount of flowers will make but a poor show. At the last Fair in Madison, the ladies took this matter in hand, and decorated the Floral Hall with evergreens and flowers in a superb manner.

Milwaukee produces buds enough; let us witness a spectacle in Floral Hall aside from competing specimens that has never been equalled.

THE QUICKEST YET!—At half-past 12 o'clock, Saturday, we received via the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway route (which carries the U. S. mail,) New York papers of Thursday afternoon—through to Milwaukee in less than two days. This is the quickest time ever made by the U. S. Mail between the cities of New York and Milwaukee, and signally illustrates the advantages of the new route, the Detroit and Milwaukee R. R.

TO BUSINESS MEN.

PREPARE FOR THE STATE FAIR!

Now is the time to hand in your Advertisements. The arrangements for the State Fair are in rapid progress and we may expect an unusual influx of visitors from all parts of Wisconsin and adjoining States.

The regular issue of THE SENTINEL is more than DOUBLE that of any other Daily in Milwaukee, rendering it, by great odds, the most desirable Advertising medium in the city. As we have recently REDUCED OUR PRICES, all classes of Business Men can avail themselves of our columns, and at very low rates.

During Exhibition Week a very large extra edition of THE SENTINEL will be printed daily and circulated on all the PUBLIC CONVEYANCES LEADING TO THE CITY, AND AMONG STRANGERS VISITING THE FAIR GROUNDS.

☞ Those desiring Cards, Circulars, Posters, Fly Bills, or any description of Printing, will find it to their advantage to call at the SENTINEL Job ROOMS and leave their orders.

Our facilities for Job Printing are UNEQUALLED in the city, and our PRICES HAVE BEEN REDUCED so low that every Business Man can avail himself of Printer's Ink, during Fair Week, at a very small cost.

Persons wishing to SAVE MONEY, and have their orders quickly and neatly executed, will not fail to GIVE US A CALL!

The State Fair.

We would suggest to those visiting the State Fair, that they look up their BOOKS and MAGAZINES, that need BINDING, and bring them in to the SENTINEL BINDERY. We are doing this class of binding very cheap, and in the best style. We are also manufacturing BLANK BOOKS to order, very low. Call and see.

A PUBLIC PICTURE GALLERY.—There will be thrown open to the public this morning a splendid collection of oil paintings, at No. 3, Newhall House, forming as choice and interesting a gallery as was ever presented to the lovers of Art in the West. This free exhibition will continue until Thursday night, and, of course, will be thronged by visitors, as it deserves. In looking over the collection Saturday, we observed among the several hundred elegantly framed subjects, two fine copies of VERNET's Moonlight Views, one of COLE's Voyage of Life; also of RAPHAEL's Madonna—a beautiful copy of the original picture at Florence. There are several Swiss scenes that for atmospheric effect and touchy grouping of cottages and rocks and waterfalls, are equal to some of the Dusseldorf specimens. Those who may visit this gallery—and who will not—will notice the one or two copies of CLAUDE LORAINE—that inimitable foliage painter, and the Marriage of St. Catherine.

The pictures are hung on the three sides of the room, and occupy all the available space. We should like to see them where the light was better, but understand they have been placed in the only obtainable store in town.

On Thursday, CALEB WALL will sell the collection at auction, and if our nabobs and dilletante, and amateurs, and lovers of Art generally do not improve the opportunity it will be their own loss.

AMUSEMENTS.—Saturday evening the Campbell Minstrels performed to a full house and elicited "unbounded applause." This Company is composed of the very best vocal talent. HAYWARD is one of those rare tenor singers, whose delicate tones invest a ballad with new pathos. His voice to be appreciated must be heard. We lay claim to some taste in vocal matters, and we say for exquisite feeling and brilliancy of execution, there are very few ballad singers equal to HAYWARD. E. J. MELVILLE, also displayed a musical knowledge and cultivated taste in the songs he rendered, very seldom seen in Negro Minstrelsy. The Campbell Minstrels are not undeserving of patronage, and we hope to see a full house to-night at Market Hall, when they will perform.

To-night Mrs. HENRY FARREN appears with the Saint Louis Company at Albany Hall, in the much admired comedy of "Who's your Friend." A favorite dance and a farce are also on the bills. Mrs. FARREN is favorably spoken of, and we do not doubt will attract a large audience at Albany Hall.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO THE STEAMSHIP.—The Detroit and Milwaukee steamship that came in on Saturday, met with an accident when about two miles from this shore.—One of her gangway planks was washed away by the tide of eloquent admiration from a crowd of Eastern gentlemen, who were aboard. We take pains in noticing the occurrence, as a Chicago man, immediately after the arrival of the steamer, wrote the following account to the Chicago Democrat:

The so-called steamship plying as a ferry boat between Milwaukee and Grand Haven, has just met with another disabling accident. A sea struck her as she came into the Harbor to-day, carrying away all her masts and smoke-pipe and filling both saloons with water. The Milwaukee folks are heartily sick of the steamship experiment as after this last unfortunate affair no one will be fool-hardy enough to trust their lives on them.

Rest of the Chicago papers please copy.

A GOOD NIGHT'S WORK.—The Board of Councillors, at their meeting on Saturday night, adopted, by a unanimous vote, the plans and specifications for the new School Houses in the Fifth, Eighth and Ninth Wards; and authorized the Comptroller to enter into contract with SHEPPARD H. MARTIN, the lowest bidder, for their immediate construction.

They also passed, after a long struggle, the Ordinance for a Horse Railroad through the Third, Seventh and First Wards. As this ordinance had previously passed the Board of Aldermen, we may look upon a Horse Railroad, on the East side of the river, as a "fixed fact." No doubt, the West side and the Fifth and Eighth Wards, will speedily follow suit.

NOMINATING MEETING.—A special meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, is to be held to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, at their rooms, at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating officers for the ensuing year. All members, not in arrears for dues, are entitled to vote. It is proposed to make the nominations by general ballot, a majority of the votes cast to be requisite to constitute a nomination.

Mr. ARNOLD, the Librarian of the Young Men's Association, is in receipt of a few more old and valuable newspapers. Send them along.

VISITORS in town, who wish to see everything worth seeing, besides the Fair, should not fail to pay a visit to STRICKLAND's store.

CONTRL, on Davis' line, will leave the Newhall, American and Walker Houses every five minutes, for the Fair, during the week.

STAND FROM UNDER.—Some very moral young women in Syracuse, have established an Association, which they style, "The Young Woman's Anti-young-man-waiting-at-the-Church-doors-with-ulterior-object-society!" Nothing like a good title.

ANOTHER GRAND CHANCE FOR APPLES.—C. WALL, the City Auctioneer, sells fifty barrels of good sweet apples, this morning, at 10 o'clock.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Home and Foreign Matters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—3 P. M.

The New York Times' Washington correspondent's despatch says the private Secretary of Senor Lerado left New York on Tuesday last as bearer of despatches from Senor Mata to his government, via New Orleans.—This messenger expects to reach New Orleans in time for the steamer of the 27th inst., arrive at Vera Cruz by the 3d of October, and leave again on the British steamer of the 5th, for Havana, and reach this city by the middle of October.

Mr. McLean anticipates leaving for Vera Cruz on the 22d of October, under negotiation to be transferred to Washington, as urged by Senors Mata and Leredo upon President Juarez in their late despatch to the government.

In the meantime, I have reason to believe that the treaty will be the subject of discussion between the parties here, not with a view to conclude the negotiation, there being no authority for that as yet, but with the hope that some plan may be devised by which both parties may be satisfied, and no violation of the rights of either, and the treaty be signed and delivered in time to receive proper notice in President Buchanan's annual message to Congress.

Both governments feel confident that a favorable conclusion of the negotiations will be reached as certain. If it be a fact that the British government has ordered a distinguished military commander to San Juan Island, with instructions similar to those furnished by our own government, both officers go to preserve peace, and as their reputations are made, they can afford to prevent a collision.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—3 P. M.

Gen. Jessup, Ordnance Master General of the United States Army, is lying very ill in New York.

Baron Stoeckel, the Russian Minister, now absent in New York, has lately had a diplomatic set-to with Secretary Cass, relative to the traders in Russian America and their objectionable monopolies.

LATEST NEWS!

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

From the Plains.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24—9 P. M.

A special despatch to the Republican says that the Salt Lake mail, with advices to the 2d, arrived at Atchison yesterday.

Col. Sanders division of the South Pass wagon road has been completed, and the new road is found to be shorter and better than the old route.

The Indians about the northern part of the Territory are reported as bold, and had arraigned themselves against a small party of Capt. Wallen's wagon road expedition, but with no serious result. The report of the massacre of Capt. Wallen's command, received via California, probably grew out of that demonstration.

The Arizonia correspondent of the Republican, says that a duel between Judge Watts and Mr Otero, candidate for Congress, from New Mexico, had taken place near Mesilla. Three shots from Colt's navy revolvers, at 15 paces, were exchanged without effect, when the parties were withdrawn by their seconds.

It is reported that Otero has been re-elected to Congress by 1400 majority. Lieutenant Mowery has been returned to Congress from Arizonia.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—9 P. M.

The Ocean Queen sailed this afternoon for Southampton and Havre. She took out 180 passengers, and upwards of $1,250,000 in specie.

Wm. H. Little, a clerk in the banking house of Winslow & Lemar, was arrested to-day on charge of embezzeling $3,000 from his employers. Part of the money has been recovered.

Philip Fitzimmons and John Cole, clerks in Barclay street, were assaulted last night on the corner of Broadway and Canal streets, Cole turned upon one of his assailants and shot him down. The person shot is a notoriously rowdy named Joseph Wilson. He will probably die.

MONTREAL, Sept. 24—1 P. M.

Weather is cloudy but fine. The International Cricket Match has just commenced; Canada at the bats. There is a good attendance of spectators on the ground.

What the Supreme Court Decided.

The News of Saturday copies the extracts which we published from the Dred Scott decision, but denies the construction which the Attorney General of the United States, Judge BLACK, has given to them. The News thus argues the point with Judge BLACK:

Now the reader can not fail to observe that neither the word slave nor slavery occurs once in the entire extract—although the Sentinel quotes it to prove that the Court decided "that neither Congress nor a Territorial Legislature can interfere in any way with slavery in the Territories." It is hardly necessary for us to say that if the Court had intended to so decide, they would have used quite as plain and intelligible language as either Judge Black or the Sentinel have, to express it. Their omission to say anything in regard to the power of a Territorial Legislature over the subject of slavery, is significant, and we cannot consent to permit either Judge Black, or the Black Republicans, to impute language to the Court which they never used.—Hence, we called for the publication of the Court, which the Sentinel has given. And no one can fail to observe that the Sentinel and Judge Black either egregiously mistake, or grossly misrepresent it.

Whether it is Judge BLACK, or the News, that "egregiously mistakes, or grossly misrepresents" the DRED SCOTT decision, our readers will presently discover. If the absence of "the word slave, or slavery," in the extracts referred to, proves that the Supreme Court had no reference to that species of "property," then the significant omission of the same words in the Constitution of the United States proves that this instrument does not recognize the right of any one man to property in another. Such is the irresistible inference from the News' premises. Is that the doctrine now held by the News and Judge DOUGLAS?

But though the words Slave and Slavery are not to be found in the extracts we quoted, they do occur in immediate juxtaposition therewith. The Supreme Court, it will be remembered, held this language:

The powers over person and property of which we speak are not only not granted to Congress, but are in express terms denied, and they are forbidden to exercise them. And this prohibition is not confined to the States, but the words are general, and extend to the whole Territory over which the Constitution gives it power to legislate, including those portions of it remaining under Territorial Government, as well as that covered by States. It is a total absence of power everywhere within the dominion of the United States, and places the citizens of a Territory, so far as these rights are concerned, on the same footing with citizens of the States, and guards them as firmly and plainly against any invasion of them by the General Government might attempt, under the plea of implied or incidental powers. And if Congress itself cannot do this—if it is beyond the powers conferred on the Federal Government—it will be admitted, we presume, that it would not authorize a Territorial Government to exercise them. It could confer no power on any Local Government, established by its authority, to violate the provisions of the constitution.

Having thus laid down the general principle, that neither Congress nor a Territorial Legislature can interfere with the rights "of person and property" referred to, the Court, in the very next sentence, proceeds thus:

It seems, however, to be supposed that there is a difference between property in a slave and other property, and that different rules may be applied to it, in expounding the Constitution of the United States.

* * * * * * *

And if the Constitution recognizes the right of property of the master in a slave, and makes no distinction between that description of property and other property owned by a citizen, no tribunal, acting under the authority of the United States, whether it be legislative, executive, or judicial, has a right to draw such a distinction, or deny to it the benefit of the provisions and guarantees which have been provided for the protection of private property against the encroachments of the government.

Now, as we have already said in an early part of this opinion, upon a different point, the right of property in a Slave is distinctly and expressly affirmed in the Constitution. * * And no word can be found in the Constitution which gives Congress a greater power over Slave property, or which entitles property of that kind to less protection, than property of any other description.

Upon these considerations, it is the opinion of the Court that the Act of Congress which prohibited a citizen from holding and owning property of this kind in the territory of the United States North of the line therein mentioned (Missouri Compromise) IS NOT WARRANTED BY THE CONSTITUTION AND IS THEREFORE VOID."

Surely the News, in the face of these extracts, will not have the hardihood again to deny the positive averment of Mr. Attorney General BLACK, that the Supreme Court, in the DRED SCOTT case, decided, that neither Congress, nor a Territorial Legislature, can interfere with Slavery in the Territories of the United States. And such being the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, the Squatter Sovereignty doctrine of Senator DOUGLAS dissolves into air. He is only left the alternative of abandoning his new plank, or denying the authority and resisting the decision of the Federal Court.

Somebody to be Cheated on the Land Grant, if Randall is Re-Elected.

The Madison Journal and Portage City Record, pretend to believe that somebody is opposing Randall, because he refused to certify that the La Crosse Railroad company had completed sixty miles, unless they would construct roads from Portage City to Madison and Columbus. Without stopping to inquire whether his refusal is right or wrong, we can prove that no one ever dreamed of opposing his re-election on that ground.—The parties who are now immediately interested in procuring these certificates, are not only doing all in their power to promote his re-election, but they were the only persons in this city, so far as we know, or have been able to ascertain, who favored his re-nomination. We refer now to the company organized under the sale of the road on the third mortgage bonds; and we here repeat that he was their first choice for the nomination, and that they exhausted their indignce here, in endeavoring to send delegates to Madison pledged to support him in the Convention.—Notes of Saturday.

The News has a short memory. It is only a few days since it published and endorsed an article from the Madison Democrat, opposing Gov. RANDALL on the specific ground that he had refused to give the certificate asked for by the La Crosse Company. If the News, however, is deficient in memory, it makes up for this lack by the fertility of its invention. The statement above quoted, in regard to the Milwaukee and Minnesota Railroad Company, is an instance in point. It is purely fictitious—an out and out fabrication.

THE ONLY DOUBT ABOUT 1860.—The News copies and calls our attention to a paragraph in a German Republican paper of St. Louis, which closes thus:

"In all candor and sincerity, it cannot be denied that the nomination of Douglas, and that alone, will render a Republican victory in 1860 doubtful."

We hardly expected to see so frank an admission of a certain Republican victory in 1860, in the columns of the News.

REPUBLICAN READING ROOM.—We are requested by the Executive Committee of the Republican club to say that they have opened a reading room in one of the Liberty Hall rooms, where may be found the N. Y. Tribune, Daily Sentinel, Free Democrat and State Journal, together with all the leading papers in the State, free to all. Call in and get the news, and keep posted for the campaign.—Sparta Herald.

The Republicans of Sparta have set an example worthy of imitation. Let our friends "circulate the documents," and take measures to call out a full vote this fall, and the success of the Republican Ticket is assured.

Pennsylvania and the Presidency.

The Philadelphia correspondent of the New York Tribune expresses the opinion that though Gen. CAMERON is the choice of the opposition of Pennsylvania for the Presidency, Gov. SEWARD, as well as Gov. CHASE, Mr. BELL or Mr. BATES would carry the State, and New Jersey also. The tariff is to be the great issue there in the next contest, and he declares that "no candidate of any party can expect the vote of either Pennsylvania or New Jersey, who is not explicitly committed in unequivocal terms to increasing the duties on imported iron to a standard that will afford protection to the now languishing iron interests in these States. This you may rely upon. And on this point all the candidates have yet to answer the people of Pennsylvania and New Jersey upon pointed interrogatories which will be authoritatively addressed to them, and no reply about niggers, or slavery, or slade codes, or the like will suffice, but they must respond as to the iron, fairly and honestly if they can, and if not, otherwise, and they will be judged accordingly. Judge DOUGLAS will have to toe the mark on this subject, and Mr. GUTHRIE, Mr. DICKINSON, Gov. SEYMOUR, Gov. WISE, Mr. HUNTER, Gen. PIERCE, Gen. HOUSTON, Gen. LANE, Mr. A. H. STEPHENS, Senator TOOMBS, Gen. JEFF. DAVIS, or Mr. HOWELL COBB, (V. P. BRECKENRIDGE is considered out of the ring,) and every man of the regiment of Democratic candidates must come out flat footed for a protective tariff on foreign iron, or they may give up all hopes of the votes of either Pennsylvania or New Jersey. The people of these States have been fooled and trifled with long enough on this topic, by the Democratic politicians, seeking their votes. After old BUCK'S betrayal of them, in despite of all his pledges, they will be chary whom they trust. They will require not only a bond, but good security."

Know-Nothingism "Ticked Out" in New York.

The Know-Nothings held their State Convention at Utica, N. Y., last Wednesday, and not caring to expose their weakness by nominating a ticket of their own, adopted the following candidates, from the tickets heretofore put in nomination by the Republicans and Democrats, respectively:

Secretary of State—David R. Floyd Jones, Democrat.
Comptroller—Robert Denniston, Republican.
Treasurer—Phillip Dorhaimer, "
Attorney General—Chas. J. Myers. "
Engineer—Van R. Richmond, Democrat.
Canal Commissioner—W. J. Skinner, Dem.
State Prison Inspector—N. S. Kiderlin, Dem.
Judge of Appeals—Henry E. Davies, Rep.
Clerk of Appeals—Chas. Hughes, "

The resolutions adopted were mainly aimed at "Sewardism" and "Black Republicanism," with which the Know-Nothings do not affiliate. They find more congenial allies among the Sham Democracy.

Rough Notes from the Red River of the North.

For the Sentinel.

Mr. CHARLES A. HUBBARD, a young gentleman, native of Milwaukee, writes home to his friends some facts in regard to the Red River country which may be of public interest, and I therefore send you a few extracts.

I. A. L.

The mails from St. Paul are very irregular; they are due here twice a month, but we seldom get them as often as monthly. There is a Canadian mail, which by the contract should also be semi-monthly, but has arrived only once during my residence here of nearly three months. This mail comes to Fort William, on the north shore of Lake Superior, by a steamboat from Collingwood; from thence it is carried in a light canoe up to Lake Platte, which is to the west of Lake of the Woods, thence across the land to this place, (Fort Garry, mouth of the Assiniboine.) By this route a distance of two hundred miles is saved; it is the route of the proposed road from Lake Superior, explored by Mr. NAPIER in behalf of the Canadian government.

By this route Fort William can be reached in ten days, while by the Winnepeg River it takes fifteen days, or more. Mr. DAWSON and his party are now surveying the route, which will be open in a year or two; this is under the direction of what is called the "Transit Company" of Canada. But the enterprise of the Americans has already surpassed them, as they have a steamboat running from Graham's Point, (Fort Abercrombie,)

The Red River is navigable from that point to Lake Winnepeg. There are, however, a few rapids which may need a little clearing, in low water, in the fall of the year, but this could easily be accomplished, and at a very little expense. The boat was built last spring, at Graham's Point. She is flat-bottomed, with a stern wheel similar to those plying upon the Upper Mississippi. She is rudely, but well built. The boiler and engine were brought over from St. Paul, in the winter. Another boat is now being built to run on Lake Winnepeg and up the Saskatchewan river. The only impediment to the navigation of the last named river is the Grand Rapids, just at its mouth, extending up some five miles from the Lake. This rapid is long and dangerous; the water runs swiftly, the banks are rocky, and there are several short turns; yet, by a little expense they could be rendered safe. The Fur Company's boats make a passage here of nearly two miles. Once past this, there is no obstruction, up to the foot of the Rocky Mountains. Next year a steamboat will be placed on this river. The Red River people, who have for so long a time been shut out from the world by a vast and extensive plain upon one side, and dense forests and Lakes on the other, are now brought within a few days journey from St. Paul. A line of stages running from St. Paul, connects with the steamboat at Graham's Point. Mr. KENNICOTT has gone on to McKenzie's river, and is by this time there, shivering with cold and digging deep into the natural history of that unfrequented region. A great talker he is, I assure you!

A UNITED STATES MARSHAL "POSTED."—The New York papers of Tuesday state that "ANDY SHEENAN," a Democratic bully, who figured in the recent Democratic "Rough and Tumble" State Convention, at Syracuse, has posted ISAIAH RYNDERS, U. S. Marshal, and another Democratic bully, about the streets of New York, in the following pleasant terms:

A CARD.—A ruffian known to the public as Isaiah Rynders, having attempted to calumniate and defame me in a harangue made by him at the recent Syracuse Convention, I hereby pronounce him to be a false-hearted, lying cur, who would not dare to utter his abuse of me had I not been absent from Syracuse at the time, and be safe from immediate chastisement. This coward has for the past twenty years been the leader of a gang of professional assassins, and has lived by roping in dupes to faro banks, blackmailing timid politicians, and never held a honest position until elevated to his present post, which he dishonors. The public have not forgotten the part this wretch played in the Astor-place riot, in which his victims were brutally murdered, while he shirked in the by-streets the responsibility of his acts.

I have here to add, in relation to this over-rated blackguard and mercenary camp-follower of the Democratic party, that it does not become a fellow who has been carried in handcuffs from one end of the United States to the other on a charge of felony, to assail any one at all, much less a man like me, who has lived to be thirty years of age without a charge of any kind being preferred against me. My visit to Syracuse was entirely independent of Mr. Wood, and I only exercised that right which every Democrat claims.

I defy this wretch to place a finger on any act of mine that is either mean, cowardly or dishonest.

ANDREW SHEENAN.

MISSISSIPPI PROGRAMME FOR CHARLESTON.—The Sunday South of the 1st inst., says:

If the Mississippi delegates to the Charleston Convention faithfully represent the sentiment of the party, the recognition of protection to slave property in the Territories will be made a sine qua non of fractional action.—An acceptance of the Cincinnati platform, unexplained, would amount to a recognition of the doctrine advanced by Douglas—a doctrine violative of the obvious intent of the constitution and contradictive of the equality of the States in the Union. We are not surprised, therefore, that loyal State rights advocates are averse to a conciliation upon other than a basis recognizing the "power coupled with the duty" in Congress of protecting slave property in the Territories.

Foreign Correspondence of the Sentinel.

ZURICH, Sept. 1st, 1859.

Prince NAPOLEON can not get an Italian Throne. Kingdoms are not as cheap in Italy, as his cousin expected they would be. They are cheap enough for natives, but they sell a good deal higher to foreigners. The bid made at Solferino was not sufficient, the Italians wanting "a little more grape" and a little more French blood, just enough to drive the Austrians over the boundary line between Italy and Germany. But as the proceedings of Villa Franca did not leave any prospect for such a bid being made, the people of Central Italy concluded that King VICTOR EMANUEL was to be regarded the highest and best bidder, and so they laid the crowns of Parma, of Modena and of Tuscany down to his feet. Count REISET was absolutely unable to alter that state of things or to change the feelings of the Italians, as he was unable to change the preliminaries of Villa Franca. Disgusted with his unlucky success he returned to France, when an other agent, Prince PONIATOWSKY, was sent immediately after him, in order to assure the Central Italian people that they never could enjoy the honor and the happiness of having Prince NAPOLEON for their King, as he was unwilling to accept any offer to that effect, and as the Emperor besides never would allow him to do so.

That the people of Parma have voted in favor of annexation to Sardinia—in the city of Parma, for instance, 6,718, and in Piacenza, 5,566 voted in favor; none against, in the province of Pontremoli only 2 against; that the representatives of Tuscany unanimously have declared in favor of annexation, and that those of Madena have done the same—you are perhaps aware of. The question now is: will King VICTOR EMANUEL take up all those crowns and put them on his head? It is a question of grave importance, more so, than most of those questions acted on by the Zurich Congress. The Lombardia, an official paper of the Sardinian government, published in Milan, about a week ago said, the King was on the eve of resolving in favor of accepting those crowns right away, without waiting for the decision of the Zurich or of any other Congress, and he probably would send immediately a Prince of his family as Governor to Central Italy. May that be true or not, at any rate the hour for decisive resolution of King VICTOR EMANUEL, one way or the other, is near at hand. The Tuscan Assembly, before adjourning, appointed a committee for the purpose of presenting their resolution in favor of annexation to the Sardinian King and of asking him for a decisive answer, whether he would accept or not. The King wanting some time for thinking so grave a question over and consulting with his Ministers and other persons of confidence, that committee delayed its departure until the 29th of August.—They will be in Turin to-day, and VICTOR EMANUEL's answer may have been given by this time, or may be expected at any moment.—He is a coward, if he don't accept, and the people cannot, as they used to do, honestly call him galantuoma (gallant man) furthermore.

The election in the Romagna was held on the 28th of August, and the representatives elected were to assemble to-day. A great many diplomats have run to Bologna to see that spectacle and observe the proceedings, amongst them Count REISET. Perhaps the cousin of his master may stand a slight chance there yet.

As to military armaments, the Romagna has done her part. Besides those troops still being organized, she has now about 20,000 men in the field, a respectable number for a State of less than a million of inhabitants, which had no army at all some months ago. The Swiss mercenaries of the Pope are again threatening the frontier of the Romagna. They are concentrated to the number of 6,000 near the small river Cattolica, which makes the boundary line between the Romagna and the Papal States. Cardinal ANTONELLI had given orders to those Swiss, to invade the Romagna simultaneously with an insurrection against the Provisional Government, which was to break out in Bologna.—But that conspiracy having been discovered in time, and a few of the leaders, arrested in Bologna, Mr. ANTONELLI has thought better to adjourn the beginning of the fight. The troops of the Romagna are stationed around Rimini, and are burning with desire of meeting those Swiss and taking revenge for Perugia.

Parma and Sardinia, which had done nothing as yet in the line of military armaments, are commencing at last. It has always been doubtful to me, whether Parma had an army at all, as I never found the slightest notice about it in the Italian newspapers; but now I know she has, because General GARIBALDI having been in the City of Parma and having told the people that Italy ought to raise an army of a million soldiers, Colonel TORTONA, Commander-in-Chief of the Army of Parma, called out volunteers to enlist in the "Brigade of Parma," or in the "Rifle Battalion of Piacenza." And Sardinia is going to raise her army from 1 brigade of grenadiers, 9 brigades of infantry of the line, 10 battalions of riflemen, 9 regiments of cavalry, 20 batteries and 9 battalions of sappers to 2 brigades of grenadiers, 14 brigades of infantry of the line, 15 battalions of riflemen, 12 regiments of cavalry, 30 batteries and 14 battalions of sappers. That new organization shall begin on the first of October, and till the time it will be completed, the French army will remain in Lombardy.

The Pope has increased his army by more Swiss, enlisting a part of those dismissed from the Neapolitan service, and the King of Naples is going to fill the vacancy occasioned in the ranks of his army by those dismissed Swiss, by a conscription of 20,000 men.

As you will have perceived from the dating of this letter, I am again in Zurich, Switzerland; but you must not think, that I from that reason know more of the doings of the Zurich Congress than I did in Milan. I only know so much, that the Conferences, having been interrupted for four days, after the arrival of new instructions from Paris and Vienna, were re-opened on the 29th of August, of course only between the plenipotentiaries of France and Austria. Those gentlemen plenipotentiaries are now the excellencies, whole Europe and a part of America looking at them, and it lies in their interest to keep that prominent position as long as possible. Rumor says that they will not finish their business before the end of this month. But so much is taken for certain, that they will not touch the questions of Central Italy and of the fabulous Italian Confederation.

When I was about to leave the "free and independent" province of Lombardy, of the State of Sardinia, the royal boundary police wanted to see my passport. Very inquisitive people I thought, very inquisitive indeed, to look after a man's name, his nose and other particulars, when he is going to turn his back to their country. Their inquisitiveness is so great that the Swiss living along the Sardinian frontier all complain about it, whereupon the Federal Government has asked the Sardinian Ministry to stop those vexations and to restore that easy frontier intercourse, which existed under the Austrian rule.

I took the road over the Splugen Pass. In Switzerland and in the mountainous part of Lombardy, Piedmont and Savoy, everything in the landscape line is beautiful, wonderful, admirable, astonishing, and worth seeing.—But to that road I call the special attention of your readers; besides the delightful Lake Como, the road itself, leading up from Chiavenna to the light of the Splugen pass, a distance of 18 miles, are the Cataract of the Madesimo and the Viamala. If any one of your readers ever should happen to go to that part of Europe, she or he must not neglect seeing those wonders of nature and art. That road was built in five years, from 1818 to 1823, and partly altered and rebuilt in another five years, from 1833 to 1838, under the Austrian government. Those who have never seen Swiss mountains and rocks, can have no idea of such a road; of its enormous walls, its bold bridges, its numerous tunnels and galleries and of all those difficulties surpassed. Hundreds of little iron crosses along its whole length indicate the number of human lives lost in building up that grand structure. The Cataract of the Madesimo is about 12 miles from Chiavenna and six from the summit of the pass, near the village of Madesimo. It is a small stream jumping down 700 feet at once from a perpendicular rock into a nice valley. From the south side it is partly visible long before one reaches it. By and by it disappears and the road leads through a tunnel. When in that tunnel one hears a roaring like distant thunder, and stepping out of it nothing at all of the Cataract is visible. But it is very near at hand, only about 20 yards. From the road a foot path, protected on both sides by substantial walls, leads right over the point where little Madesimo only ten feet lower, commences the dangerous jump. Bending over the wall, one enjoys the whole spectacle at a single glance, but it is interesting enough to throw many glances at it. Another Cataract or rather a whole system of Cataracts can be seen on the other side of a nice valley, which lies at one's feet. There a small stream, rushing out of a distant glacier, comes over the top of a mountain, more than 3,000 feet above the valley and jumps down in more than a dozen leaps from 10 to 100 feet high.

The Splugen Pass is nearly 700 feet above the level of the ocean. On the Swiss side the construction of the road has been very easy and almost without any difficulties. The mountain softly and smoothly slopes down into the Rhine river valley, uninterrupted by any rocks, by any abysses or such things, and from the summit of the pass one can overlook almost the whole road down to the town of Splugen, a distance of six miles.—That road, seen from above, looks exactly like a huge snake, climbing up the mountain. As there is plenty of marble around there, a large part of the road on both sides of the summit has been built of that material, and I tell you, it is an excellent stuff for road building. The road is always hard and smooth, and so white, that it can be seen by travellers even during the darkest nights; and what is more pleasant, there is not a bit of dust on it.

Now as to the "Viamala,"—or evil road, —that is a part of the road leading through the Rhine River valley, in the canton of Graubunden, or Grisons, near the town of Thusis. That valley for a mile or two is no valley at all, but only a deep cut, made with a big knife full of notches into high rocky mountains, a cut between 1,500 and 2,000 feet deep, or a system of horrible, awful abysses, chasms and clefts; and through that unsystematical system, through that cut, the road has been built, for 200 to 500 feet above the channel of the Rhine. In two places the Rhine is bridged by a stout structure of quarry stone, and when standing on one of those bridges, and looking up the perpendicular rocks 1,500 feet high, and looking down to the poor Rhine squeezed between the hard and inexorable stones, and pressed and tormented in the narrow channel, sometimes not more than two feet wide, that his moanings and groanings sound to one's ear and heart,—the thought presents itself to one's mind: There are no difficulties in the world, which mankind could not overpower!

The State Tax—Great Reduction in Taxation this Year—The Faults of Republican Rule.

It has been a matter of remark by some that the Republican State Convention passed no resolution in regard to economy and retrenchment in the State expenses. Such a resolution has been hitherto considered necessary, and a matter of course; and such resolutions always passed the Democratic State Conventions, at the time when that party was guilty of the most wanton extravagance.—Probably the Republican Convention deemed it best to let the facts speak for themselves, this year.

Two years ago the Republicans elected a Governor, State Treasurer, and State Prison Commissioner, and in the two years since, the Republican party has had a small working majority in the Legislature. What might have been accomplished in the way of economy and reduction of taxation, if our party had all the State departments under its control, and a stronger majority in the Legislature, we do not estimate, but what has been done can now be placed before the people.

There came down to this administration, as a legacy from the high old democratic times of Barstow et al, a floating debt of over $100,000 to be paid, and the necessary and just exposure of the La Crosse R. R. corruptions were costly. Heavy appropriations for the benevolent institutions, the State Prison, and the Capitol enlargement have also been paid; and yet we are able to show now a State free from debt, and State tax for this year, less by one-half than that of last year, amounting to only $234,000, against $435,000 last year, and this including the two-fifths of a mill as interest on the constitutional state debt, and the one-tenth of a mill for Town Libraries.

To show the precise amount of tax, to be raised this year, as compared with last and the diminution in each county, we have prepared the following table:

The above table tells its own story—a story which will inform the people of good news for hard times—which will affectually dispose of the bugbears started by the Democratic press about alleged Republican extravagance—which will demonstrate, by the logic of figures, the capacity of Democratic orators for falsehood and misrepresentation—and for which will, if we mistake not, cause the people to hesitate before they try the experiment of allowing the Democratic party again to manage their finances for them. The statement should be widely published.—Madison Journal, Sept. 22.

BEARS.—Last Sabbath, between one and two o'clock in the afternoon, a she-bear with three cubs appeared just back of this office, only about 12 rods away, on the island below the Falls. The alarm was given and men turned out in elegant collars, blacked boots and fancy clothes, boys multiplied, dogs increased, guns blazed and rain came down in torrents. We watched the commander-in-chief of the enemy, and will say, that our valiant army, met an opponent worthy enough to command admiration.—After disposing of her cubs in eligible locations, she undertook a retreat, though laboring under the disadvantage of being surrounded by our brave forces. After receiving a few shots she crossed to the main shore, where one of the pioneers made a stroke at her with an ax, doing some execution, and another with a club. She escaped, being the only one in the crowd showing good generalship. The cubs—innocent little dears, (we call 'em dears, for their hugging proclivities) fell victims to their inexperiences. Dogs, boys and men rushed to the attack! the three cubs succumbed, not without knocking over a dog or two, and inflicting a wound upon one of our brave soldiers. The forces "came marching home again," with lopped collars, soiled equipments, and unquiet consciences. But now

'Grim visaged war has smoothed his wrinkled front.'

Retributive Justice—The Murderer Killed.

A telegraphic dispatch from New Orleans announces the death of Dr. Robert M. Graham, from the effects of a wound received in a shooting affray with Mr. Ernest Tolidano.—The affray grew out of a political difficulty. This is the same Dr. Robert M. Graham who figured before the New York Courts in the year 1854 as the murderer of Col. Charles Loring, of California, at the St. Nicholas Hotel, under the most aggravated circumstances. Col. Loring, with his wife, occupied rooms at the St. Nicholas, as likewise did Dr. Graham and his family—their respective rooms being contiguous. On the afternoon and night of Tuesday, Aug. 1, Dr. Graham, under the influence of liquor, created considerable disturbance in the hotel, but was induced to retire to his room, where he remained quietly until towards daylight, on Wednesday, when he arose from his bed, and wanting water, left his room, and commenced to ring the chambermaid's bell violently in the hall.

Col. Loring, whose wife was ill, remonstrated with him, and requested him to desist, but Graham paid no attention to his appeal, and at last Col. Loring went down to the office of the hotel to obtain the removal of Graham. As he was ascending the stairs on his return, he was met by Graham, and an altercation ensued, which resulted in the stabbing of Loring. The weapon used was the long blade of a sword-cane, which was plunged into Loring's side with great violence, where it was twisted about and bent before it Was pulled out. A Coroner's inquest was immediately commenced, which resulted in the committal of Graham to abide the action of the Grand Jury. The trial was commenced in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, before Judge Mitchell, on the 3d day of October, 1854, and continued until the evening of the 9th, the jury, at 2 1-2 o'clock the next morning, finding a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree. He was sentenced to the State Prison at Sing Sing, but was pardoned by Gov. Clark, in March, 1856, after serving upwards of a year of his time.

☞ REDUCED BY DYSPEPSIA TO A MERE SKELETON.—Cured by Barbaret's Holland Bitters".—Mr. A. Matchett, a trader probably as well known as any man in Western Pennsylvania, states as follows "I met with a farmer in Armstrong county who was reduced by Dyspepsia to a mere Skeleton. I persuaded him to buy a bottle of Barbaret's Holland Bitters, believing it would cure him. Meeting him some months after, what was my astonishment at finding him a hale, hearty man; he told me he now weighed 200 pounds, and that their wonderful change had been produced by Barbaret's Holland Bitters to which he attributed solely his restoration."

CAUTION!—Beware of imposition See that the name of Benjamin Page, Jr. & Co., sole proprietors Pittsburgh, Pa., is on the label of every bottle.

THE MONSTER GREAT EASTERN.

The Arrival and Departure from Purfleet for Portland, England—Her Progress Down the Thames—Successful Working of the Machinery—Great Enthusiasm of the People, &c., &c.

(By the Arabia.)

The great event of the week has been the departure of the Great Eastern for sea. The Nova Scotian brought out news that the vessel had proceeded down the Thames as far as Purfleet on the 7th, and anchored there for the tide of the following morning. Her departure from her moorings, accompanied by four powerful tugs, two at the bow and two at the stern, gave rise to the greatest enthusiasm on the Thames, which was continued at all the prominent points.

Capt. Harrison and the most experienced Thames pilot directed the ship's motion.

Mr. Scott-Russell was on the bridge, directing the action of the engines, both of which, screw and paddle, were under steam.

Capt. Comstock, of the Collins' steamer Baltic, stood aft to transmit directions to the men at the wheel, the new steering apparatus not being completely fitted.

The very first move in the river demonstrated that the ship was as completely under command as a river steamer, and that the only difficulties to contend with were the sharp curves in the stream. She steers as easily as a wager boat, and her engines were found capable of starting her or arresting her motion literally almost by a single motion of the hand.

The only difficulty experienced was at Blackwell Point, where the river forms an acute angle, and in the centre of the channel at this point a bark and a schooner had, unfortunately, anchored. There was an anxious and perilous delay of fifteen minutes, but the danger was passed, and there was no other serious cause for uneasiness. There was not a single regular seaman on board during the river trip, the crew not having joined.

There were perfect ovations at Greenwich, Blackwall, Woolwich and other points, where immense crowds had assembled.

At Purfleet the ship swung round to her single anchor in beautiful style, and the anchor, Trotman's patent, never yielded an inch from the spot where it dropped.

On the 8th the Great Eastern got up steam and weighed anchor, and at 8:40 A. M. started from Purfleet for the Nore. As on the preceding day, she was accompanied by tugs, and the enthusiasm along the river, particularly at Gravesend, was very great.

On arriving at Chapman's Head, at the top of Sea Reach, the tugs were cast off and the great vessel was left to herself. Increased speed was then got on her, simply to give her good steerage way and move her engines readily, but with no view to test her power. In ten minutes, however, says the correspondent of the London Times, she sat at rest all doubts forever as to her being the fastest vessel beyond comparison in the world. Employing less than two-thirds of her power, in her worst trim, being six inches down by the head, and too high out of water to permit her paddles or screw blades to work properly, and with a strong tide against her, she ran a distance of fifteen statute miles in two minutes under an hour. The engines worked with astonishing ease, and there was scarcely a vibration perceptible.

Before anchoring, the vessel was put about, and went completely round in less than three quarters of a mile. At half past twelve, the vessel anchored at the Nore. She was to leave the Nore at seven o'clock on the morning of 9th, and steam away easily for Portland, Dorsetshire, which harbor she expected to reach early on the morning of the 10th.

Much regret was felt that serious illness prevented Mr. Brunel from being on board to share in the triumph.

LAMENTABLE OCCURRENCE—A FARMER Shot by his Servant Girl.—A wealthy and highly respectable farmer, named Joseph Smith, a resident of the county of Kent, C. W., was killed on Monday last at his residence, in a very distressing manner. He had a fine farm, on which was an abundance of fruit and grapes, which had been a source of considerable trouble to him on account of the depredations of thieves. In order to put a stop to this, he determined upon forcible measures, and accordingly loaded a gun and kept it in readiness for the return of the thieves. On the afternoon in question, as he arose from the supper table to go in search of his cows, he addressed his servant girl Julia, and directed her to take the gun and shoot the first person who approached the grapes. On his return from the fields, he entered the premises by the back way, and went directly to the grape vines, entirely forgetting the directions so recently given to the girl, who, as seemed from the result, was prepared to obey them to the letter. She was watching with the gun in her hand, and being unable to recognize him in the dusk of evening, drew up and fired, the charge of shot taking effect in the thigh and terminating his life in a few minutes. The girl was frightened out of her wits by the occurrence, and being alone, ran off for assistance, which was entirely unavailable, as the wound was mortal. Much excitement was created by the event, as Mr. Smith was a very prominent man, and much esteemed in his neighborhood. Private advices brought intelligence of the affair yesterday morning, and the Chatham papers contain full particulars. It is conceded to be one of the most lamentable occurrences of the kind that has happened in that portion of the country.—Detroit Free Press, Sept. 22.

WHAT GENERAL TAYLOR SAID AT BUENA VISTA.—A correspondent of the New York Herald, referring to a correction made by that paper of certain statements reported to have been made in regard to Old Zack, and by which he is made the author of a despatch he never wrote. I relate the circumstance as it was told by a person who was present, and the language which was really used. Before the battle of Buena Vista, when Taylor's gallant little army was surrounded by a force five or six times its number, and its utter annihilation appeared certain—at least to those who knew nothing of the material of which it was made up—General Santa Anna sent one of his staff to summon the old veteran to surrender and to represent to him the folly of entering upon a conflict that must end in the utter defeat of the Americans. The summons to surrender was reported to Colonel Bliss, who, when he had translated it to Old Zack, asked what reply he should make.

"Tell him," said the General, in his usual prompt and emphatic manner, "tell him to go to hell."

Colonel Bliss asked him if he should send that reply.

"Let me see. No!" replied the old man, "say I'd see him d——d first."

Colonel Bliss, who was thoroughly posted up in the etiquette of the camp, thereupon wrote the dispatch which had been credited to the commander, and which was to the effect that the summons had been duly received and that General Taylor declined acceding thereto.

A FIGHT WITH A BEAR.—We learn that Mr. Samuel Marsh of this town, had a rough encounter with a bear on Friday last. Bruin had to climb a tree to escape the dog which was in pursuit of him. Mr. M. soon arrived at the tree, and attempted to shoot the bear, but his gun being wet refused to be shot, and meanwhile Bruin took it into his head to come down stern first—he was soon in hailing distance, when Mr. M. seized him by the leg; this induced him to let go of the tree, and a scuffle ensued; Bruin seized his antagonist by the arm; at this time the father-in-law of Mr. M., armed with an axe, succeeded in driving the bear off.

We are informed that the wounds of Mr. Marsh, though severe are not dangerous.—Richland Co. Observer.

SATURDAY, Sept. 24.

Money Matters.

The week closes on the most stringent money market that we have had for a great while. The banks have been scarcely able to keep up with the wants of their produce customers, in whose favor they have been obliged exclusively to discriminate for several weeks past, and even the brokers seem short of funds. How long this state of things will last, we cannot imagine.—It should, however, be taken as a warning not to speculate beyond our means, in anticipation of "easy times." The present scarcity of money is not confined to Milwaukee. It is general throughout the entire West. The following, for instance, from the Chicago Press & Tribune, is a fair sample of the tone of our exchanges in other cities:

There is an increased demand for money, but the scarcity seems more than to keep pace with it. Collections generally are difficult, and forebodings of "pinching times" meet us at every turn. Those, however, who live within their means and have managed their business cautiously, have, we think, nothing to fear. We cannot recommend too strongly to our merchants and business men in fact to all men at the west, the policy of purchasing sparingly. It is far better, for the next year at least, to be upon the side of caution. We fear it will take that time, at least, to square off old obligations.

Exchange was also very close and went up to 1¼ per cent. premium. At Chicago it is selling at 2 per cent. There are hopes, however, of a speedy improvement, as the shipments of produce from this port and Chicago have been very large of late, and of course will soon create a better supply of exchange. Gold advanced with exchange, and is selling at 1¼ premium.

The unsettled state of the weather during the past week will account for the decrease in receipts, and as the State Fair commences on Monday and will occupy the attention of a great many of our farmers for several days, it is likely that the movement of produce will continue light for another week, at least.

There has been a good milling and export demand for wheat, and although the market closes with a rather heavy feeling, in consequence of a slight reaction at the East, a material advance in prices has been gained over last week, as will be seen by the summary of the week's transactions, which we append. On Saturday the market for wheat opened at an advance of 1 to 2c, extra spring bringing 80@82c; club (new grade) 77@78c; No. 1 75@76c; No. 2 74@74½c; but these figures were not sustained up to noon, and although no sales at lower prices were reported, the views of buyers in the afternoon were full 2c below the opening quotations. Buyers were loth to accede to the decline, and the market closed very dull. A few transactions in flour were reported at $3.75 to $4 for fair to prime country spring extra, and one small lot of a favorite brand went as high as $4,12½. Oats were steady, 500 bus selling at at 27c in store. No change in prices of other articles.

THE GROCERY TRADE.

Thus far, the Grocery trade of the present season compares favorably with the same interest for the corresponding period of last year, and we believe that our merchants generally are satisfied with what they have done. Goods are sold at very close figures to cash and short time buyers, but great caution is used in allowing credits, and it is thought there are fewer men of doubtful responsibility in trade now, than at any time for several years past. Occasionally a party unable to obtain credit here "goes East," falls into the hands of some over-eager and credulous New Yorker, succeeds in buying a stock of goods on long time, and returns to contribute his share towards disgracing the credit of our State; but such instances are less frequent than formerly.

Refined sugars having advanced ½ to ¾c in New York, are very firm in our market, without change in prices, while raw sugars, influenced by same cause, are ½c higher. The stock, however, in Eastern markets is very large, (75,000 hhds in New York alone on the 1st inst.,) and it would hardly seem possible that so large a quantity can be exhausted before the new crop comes forward.

From the annual statement of domestic production it appears that the crop of last year (exclusive of Texas and Florida,) amounted to 862,296 hhds, being 89,000 more than the previous year, and within 87,000 hhds of the extraordinary yield of 1853, while, owing to high prices current during the year, in value it exceeded any previous crop by nearly forty per cent. The prospect for the present season is not so favorable, and a shorter crop than that of last year is anticipated.

An active movement has taken place in Coffees in all the principal markets, and we quote prices ¾@1c higher than two months since. It is found that the consumption of this staple is outstripping its production, and many predict a still further advance.

In Tea we have no material change to note. Recent auction sales in New York have been at a little higher prices, especially on the lower grades of Young Hyson, but rates are still within the range of our quotations.

GOODRICH & TERRY.

The Press & Tribune, of Saturday, says:

About 1,800 barrels changed hands at $3,90@4,12½c per Spring extras: $2,90@3,50 for superfine do, and $4,25@4,90 for Winter extras. Corn was buoyant and active, with sales of about 30,000 bus at 72c for canal afloat; 72½@73 for No. 1 in store. Oats advanced 1@2c, with however limited sales at 27½@28½ for No. 1 in store—closing firm at 28c. Barley firm as to the demand by shippers and brewers and advanced 2@3c. About 17,000 bus were sold at 60@62c for No. 2 in store; 64c for choice do on track; and 53c for No. 3 c. o. b. Timothy seed firm, with sales at $2,10@2,11. Clover seed $5,00.
